

Jimothy is a 25-year-old who recently moved out of his parents' house to live on his own and is having trouble keeping track of recipes. He lives alone in an apartment. Jimothy is trying to get better at cooking to stay healthy, save money on eating out, and impress a date, when he manages to get one. Different days call for different needs; some days Jimothy needs a fast recipe, other days he just wants the best taste, yet more days he's feeling a little unhealthy and wants to recover. Jimothy is also trying to watch what he eats and stay healthy, so he needs to track healthy recipes.

Jimothy is happy to google recipes, but he's having trouble finding the right recipe for the right day on the internet. Enter Lunchboxd. Lunchboxd provides Jimothy with one centralized location which he can go to and check how he has reviewed different recipes. He can store recipes he finds, review a recipe, and re-review them if he changes his mind. With Lunchboxd all he needs to do when he needs a recipe is go to his computer, open it up, and sort his reviews by whichever category(ies) he needs and he can find the recipes he's previously made. If he hasn't tracked any, he can look for a few recipes from the small bank which come with.